Sanchita Saxena will discuss her new book, MADE IN BANGLADESH, CAMBODIA, & SRI LANKA: THE LABOR BEHIND THE GLOBAL GARMENTS & TEXTILES INDUSTRIES, which has earned rave reviews from leading experts.

Sanchita Banerjee Saxena is the executive director of the Institute for South Asia Studies (ISAS) at UC Berkeley and the director of the Chowdhury Center for Bangladesh Studies under the ISAS. Prior to joining ISAS, she was the assistant director of Economic Programs at the Asia Foundation, where she coauthored The Phase-Out of the Multi-Fiber Arrangement: Policy Options and Opportunities for Asia. She has also served as a consultant to the Asia Foundation on various economic projects and was a Public Policy Fellow at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars in Washington D.C. in 2010 and 2014. Dr. Saxena holds a PhD in political science from UCLA. She has given invited lectures at several universities and institutions, including Georgetown University, Johns Hopkins University, UC Berkeley, the United States International Trade Commission, the Center for Global Development, and the U.S. Bangladesh Advisory Council. Her commentaries have been featured in the New York Times, Economic and Political Weekly, Thompson Reuters, The Daily Star and aired on LinkTV, KQED World, and KPFA.

Thursday, October 30, 2014
5 - 7 pm
10 Stephens Hall (ISAS Conf. Room)

Event co-sponsored by the Chowdhury Center for Bangladesh Studies, The Asia Foundation, Global Leadership Program at the Goldman School of Public Policy, and the Center for Labor Research and Education

This event is free and open to public.
For information call us at 510-642-3608 or visit us on the web at southasia.berkeley.edu